Professionals Gain Competitive Edge With Dot-Pro Domain.
EnCirca Extends Free Web Hosting for Professionals

WOBURN, Mass., February 1, 2006 – EnCirca celebrates the new year with four new .pro websites owned by Professionals at Showcase.pro (<http://www.showcase.pro>). Professionals of all types are using .pro for distinctive branding and search engine marketing, providing them a competitive edge over other professionals.

EnCirca has continued its holiday special of free web hosting with all .pro domains. Simply select the “QuickStart” package during the order process and receive a free year of web hosting with your order.

“The .Pro domain extension is perfect for the Professional interested in creating a brand online” says Tom Barrett, President of EnCirca, sponsor of Showcase.pro. “Every professional serious about marketing themselves online should have a .pro internet address. There is no better way on the internet of communicating to your customers that you are a true pro.”

Professionals have two branding options: a profession-specific address, such as <http://www.austin.law.pro> or simply a generic .pro address, such as <http://www.fitness.pro>. Both are appropriate for search engine marketing to specific markets, geographic areas or target customers for just $99/year including a free year of web hosting.

Websites Featured This Month:

1. appellatelaw.pro (<http://www.appellatelaw.pro>). Professional website of Stephen Knight Esq. Mr. Knight practices at Baydoun & Knight, PLLC, of Nashville, Tennessee where he focuses on appellate advocacy, commercial litigation, and consumer protection litigation.
2. wertel.eng.pro (<http://www.wertel.eng.pro>). Wertel Enterprises of Gilbert, Arizona, specializes in mechanical design and engineering utilizing 3D parametric CAD as well as assembly fixture design, gage design, and machine design.
